

Virtual Datacenter

Hypervisors manage the available hardware resources like CPUs, RAM, Ethernet, Storage and allocate them to Virtual Servers. Allocation can be static or dynamic and a Virtual Server can be hot-transferred from one hypervisor to another. If a hypervisor fails the others will take over the Virtual Servers that was running on the failed one in a matter of seconds.

Hypervisors

Blade Servers

Storage Area Network

Storage System